

To whom it may concern

I want my voice heard on XM Satellite Radio. I am a happy subscriber to XM and rarely listen to FM anymore. FM signal quality is bad. XM is perfect everywhere I go. XM Content is Loads better than FM and it doesn't change depending on what City I go to. XM has Traffic now which I don't have to wait for boring talk or music on a local station to break in with traffic every 30 min or so, XM has it continuously. The NAB has no right to attempt to limit XM's broadcasting. I pay for XM and I pay for what I get. I don't pay for FM and that's why I don't get what I like.

XM is a service. FM is not. That's how most people look at it nowadays and that's how it should be looked at by you. XM is like cable tv, they can offer new and exciting content and we pay for it. FM is the local channels of the cable world. You only turn them on to see the news. You wouldn't even do that if you could get your local news elsewhere.

This is just my opinion. But it's an opinion of a happy paying customer of XM and a ex-listener of FM
